Foreign News by Cable.—By cable it is announced that a majority of the French Catholic Bishops, led by Bishop Dupanloup, of Orleans, and a number of the other German Bishops have refused to accept the doctrine of the infallibility of the Pope. The Spanish Minister of State yesterday declared in the Cortes that Spain would resist the decrees of the Ecumencial Council if they were against the interests of the nation. Many cities in France were illuminated Wednesday night in honor of the opening of the Ecumenical Council. In Marseilles about 1,500 men made violent demonstrations against the illumination. Mr. Garfield moved to refer it to the Committee on Banking and Currency.

Mr. Ingersoll objected and wanted to debate the question, when Mr. Garfield, who held the floor, insisted upon the regular order. The House then resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, and resumed the consideration of the Census Bill.

The seventh section which relates to the duties of the enumerator, the oath to be taken by him, &c., was amended in some particulars o as to perfect it.

Mr. Wood (N. Y.) offered an amendment provide that no census enumerator should be permitted to try to influence the political action of the people while he was performing his duties as enumerator. He thought the restriction was very necessary, as the enumerators would have an immense influence and power, and he did an immense influence and power, and he did not think it was right to allow them to use that power under an official cloak.

Mr. Garfield said the agents had never made provision against parricide, because they never contemplated that the crime would be com-mitted. The idea of incorporating such a clause as that suggested by Mr. Wood was not thought or by the Canana Committee because it was not of by the Census Committee, because it was not supposed that any such abridgement of the ights of American citizens was necessary. The amendment was rejected.

Mr. Jenckes (R. I.) offered an amendment the object of which was to authorize the employment of experts, who could best obtain the fullest statistics of cotton and woollen mills and kindred industries, all of which ought to be set forth at length in the census. The ordinary enumerators could not get the reliable statistics. while the expert, who understood his business could readily arrive at the desired information.

The amendment was opposed by Messrs. Garfield and Haldeman, members of the Census Committee.

The amendment was adopted. The eighth and ninth sections were adopted without material amendment.

Of the shipments of coal for the year 1869, 637,614.14 tons were despatched to Georgetown and Alexandria; 5,071.15 to Williamsport; 8,936.14 whole seat with her boxes, bundles, and herself sat a little German woman. In her arms she held a very small, very red, and very disagreea-ble baby. By-and-by the train-stopped, and the little woman took up her basket and proceeded forth in search of something to eat. But what to do with that uncomtortable baby? She laid it out nicely on a pile of shawls, and then gazed attentively at the people around her. Her glance paused on the pretty little mother from California, wandered to the gentle June hly, to the literary young lady, to the kind, matronly Quaker from Brooklyn, to the small persons in the sailor hat. But it alighted finally on Susan with a foregone fatality, and this remarkable with a foregone fatality, and this remarkable woman said to her, "Madame, will you look after my baby a minute?" and trotted out of the car instanter. But Susan was in no whit daunted. She watched over that scarlet and altogether awful baby, through attentive specta-cles; she chirrupped to it like a professor of the art, and poked it under the chin with consum-mate ability. So agreeable was she, in fact, that when its mother reappeared, the miserable atom kicked and yelled for its playful guar-

> ANOTHER PENNSYLVANIA HORROR-An Agen Couple Murdered,—At four o'clock Monday morning, in the village of Greenville, Pennsylvania, an aged couple named Vandusen were found murdered, and their hitherto peaceful home burned to ashes, with their bodies in it. They were known to have a large amount of the couple of the cou were known to have a large amount of gold on their premises, some twenty-five or thirty the sand dollars, and the universal belief of the sand dollars, and the universal belief of the neighbors is that they were robbed, murdered, and the house then set on fire to conceal the crime. When the fire had done its worst the body of Mrs. Vandusen was found still in bed, though then in the cellar—that of her husband in the hall. That they should have been separated in this manner, at such a time, seems strange. Moreover, the neighbors found the back door and back window open, which proves at once that hurover, the neighors found the back door and back window open, which proves at once that burglars had been in the house. A large jack knife, with the blade open, was also found in the ruins. The bodies were so far consumed as to preclude the possibility of determining any marks of violence. On Saturday the old man, frightened, no doubt, at the decline in gold, was in town offering to sell off the precious metal, thus inevitably advertising his tempting possession—thirty thousand dollars in gold—in a farm house in a quiet country town.—Pittsburg Gazette, Dec. 7.

> NATIONAL BASE BALL CONVENTION.—This body, which met at Bostou on Wednesday, elected the following officers for the ensuing year:—President, A. N. Bush; First Vice President, J. H. Westervelt, of New Jersey; second Vice President, L. P. Fuller, of Missouri; Recording Secretary, C. E., Coon, of D. C., Corresponding Secretary, A. T. Goshone, of Ohjo; Treasurer, W. A. Conant, of New York. The amended Combitution was taken up by sections and passed. The most noticeable alterations were one fixing the last, Wednesday of November for the annual meeting of the Association, and another fixing the sum of fifty cents as the annual dues from each Club belonging to the Association. The rules and regulations with proposed amendments were taken up. The principal amendments adopted were as follows: Giving the umpire permission to call the striker, in the same manner as in the cailing of balls, without giving warning; in case of an equal number of runs between two Clubs in a game, and where one refuses to continueit, giving the other [Club the game with a score of nine to nothing; siriking out the section which makes a distinction between amateur and professional Clubs.

DRY Goods.—The most noticeable occurrences in the dry goods market during the past week have been the break-down in most descriptions of foreign fabrics, but particularly in dress goods and velvets. In some cases the marking down of prices has been full thirty per cent. The auction rooms have been well supplied with the remains of broken invoices; but prices have ruled very low. In domestic cotton goods the market is inactive, but prices are without any important changes since our last report. The transactions in brown sheetings and shirtings have been on a very restricted scale. There is but little inquiry for bleached shirtings and sheetings, but prices are steadily maintained. Cotton fiannels are in pretty good demand for the time of year, and prices are steady. Printing cloths in the gray are without animation; there are no speculative transactions, and the sales are on a moderate scale for immediate use at the mills. Very little is done in prints. Prices have been reduced about 1/2 cent a yard but without having the effect of inducing heavy purchases. Prudent merchants will not be tempted to lay in a heavier stock of goods than their business will justify by a small reduction of prices.—N. Y. Independent.
